Creating the Membership of the Head and Neck Intergroup

- Small planning group or try to include everyone ?
 - Intermediate may be worst as groups feel left out
 - Inclusive at first and group can decide
- Restrict to cooperative groups with track record in conducting head and neck cancer trials
 - Success in other intergroups built on collaborations of established cooperative groups
 - Include Centers with track record as well

* Name of the Intergroup to be decided upon at the time of the meeting in France

 Invited – No answer received yet.

Other issues

- Identify the Group and make sure the Chair is engaged / designate appropriate representative(s)
- Newly formed groups may be active/open enrolling trials but not completed / presented published yet
- Do we need a catchy name
 - HIP: Head and neck IntergrouP

Please attach documentation specified on the GCIIG website and the Policy Document and summarized here:

Any international or national research cooperative group performing clinical trials in gynecologic cancer may become a member group of the GCIIG. A cooperative group consists of several centers/sites hence a single center/site is not eligible for membership. A potential new member group should complete this Membership Application form and provide documentation concerning the following criteria:

Identification of the international or national cooperative group operating as a Clinical Trials research Group in Gynecologic Cancer. Include contact name, address, telephone, fax, and email.

The Group complies with Good Clinical Practice (GCP). A document should be provided from the group which includes confirmation that all centers/sites within the group adhere to GCP and have fulfilled GCP education and certification.

The Group has or is able to perform randomized therapeutic clinical trials in gynecologic cancer(s) following GCP criteria, with sufficient data management and statistical support.
